Dancing (愉快學跳舞)

Dance is a powerful ally for developing many attributes of a growing child. It helps children mature physically, emotionally, socially and cognitively. In particular, dancing integrates kinesthetic learning with understanding. Young children do not conceptualize abstract processes. They primarily learn through physical and sensory experiences. When children are provided with creative movement problems that involve the selection of movement choices, they learn to think in the concrete reality of movement. Thus, learning the art of dance helps young children develop knowledge, skills and understanding about the world.
